

---

Pictured
Materials from the Westburn
Sugar Refinery

 The British Academy

Scratch here
to smell smoke

“You had the smell of molasses on the waterfront and if you go around the corner to Baker’s Brae, you get the smell of the bones that were being burned for charcoal”

---

Scratch in the circle to reveal the smells of Greenock’s past

---

Pictured
Plans revealing the refinement process

 The British
Academy

Scratch here
to smell sugar

“The boats used to come in there and it was cane sugar in the boats and we could smell it. It was a disgusting smell.”

---

Scratch in the circle to reveal the
smells of Greenock's past